EDITORIAL

Following on from my recent (February) missive about unhygienic practices being a potential AIDS hazard and a hail of angry correcting letters to the Editors, I unreservedly substitute AIDS for Hepatitis. I also refute the suggestion that sharing LD crosswords can lead to AIDS by using the same biro.

Readers and distributors will have noticed that we have a new advertising "person", Barry Tillbrook. Please contact Barry with any enquiries or suggestions. Advertisers should note that if you invest for a year at a cost of £300 you could well be reaching over 100,000 potential customers who are committed drinkers. If any pub or organization invests in a single month, half a page at £45, this would reach a potential 10,000 customers. If this advert includes a special offer to readers, your take-up would be even better.

I have written many times about good "Out of London" pubs, so I think the time is right to invite readers to describe their favourite London pub in less than 100 words, giving reasons for the choice. The winning entries will be published in the September edition with prizes awarded for the best three descriptions in the opinion of the Editors. Have fun!

We seem to have come to the end of the London Beer Festival season, with festivals held at Wimbledon, Ealing, Kings Cross and Greenwich.

On behalf of the organisers of these events can I thank all readers who attended these successful events and drank so copiously!

Lastly I must remind our readers (and publicans and breweries) that our "Rip-Off" and "Bargain Beer" sections are not dead. We are delighted to publish examples of outrageous profiteering and bargains for whatever purpose. Please don't rely on other people - write to us and we will publish the facts for other readers to take note. I suppose that any beer in the 80-85p bracket will be a bargain and any ordinary beer over £1.10 would qualify as a "Rip-Off". Holt's and Burt's - please swamp us with your excellent products at the usual 60-65p a pint!

Chris Cobbold.
